

Systems 2005: itelligence AG focuses on small and mid-sized business itelligence AG presents two new best practice solutions for Systems 2005 in Munich

Bielefeld, October 11, 2005 - itelligence AG, an internationally leading IT full-service provider in the SAP environment, is to focus its presentation on small and mid-sized business at Systems 2005 from October 24 to 28 in Munich, at SAP's partner booth in Hall A1.127/A1.227.

This year, itelligence AG is presenting two best practice solutions for middle-market manufacturers of household and consumer goods and bodycare products as innovations. The scope and function of both innovative solutions are clearly tailored to the needs of SMEs.

Both solutions were designed on mySAP All-in-One-Basis and developed in close cooperation with SAP as best practice solutions. According to a study by the Ludwigshafen Technical College, SMEs can implement their SAP business applications more efficiently with SAP best practice solutions. Project costs and risks are minimized and the new solution pays for itself more quickly.

Under the focus on small and mid-sized business, the successful IT full-service providers will also show the further developments of its proven industry solutions. Here the presentation concentrates on the automotive supplier industry, the high-tech/electronics industry, and machine and plant engineering. it.automotive supplier for automotive suppliers, it.engine for machine and plant engineers, and it.hightronics for the high-tech and electronics industry will be presented in detail.

The focus on small and mid-sized business is rounded off by the presentation on the key innovative topics customer relationship management (mySAP CRM), supply chain management (mySAP SCM), and product lifecycle management (mySAP PLM). At the same time, the itelligence experts will be showing applied examples and innovations from the SAP
